Summary of reasons for decision:

The console game provides downloadable content expansion levels to accompany "Bioshock" (OFLC 701695) and "Bioshock 2" (OFLC 0901836) console games. The decision for "Bioshock" was registered on 19 July 2007 and "BioShock 2", on 24 December 2009.

The two games and downloadable content will be packaged together as one product for commercial purposes. The expansion levels in "Bioshock: Ultimate Rapture Edition" provide additional tasks and missions that are related to the first two underwater adventures set in the vast underwater, retro-futuristic city of Rapture. The format and game play during the expansion levels is no different to those of the previously classified versions of the title. Therefore the content does not require a different classification to that of the games previously examined by the Office.
